

Most stores open today

While almost all government offices in the Haliburton Highlands are closed today, July 1, most businesses are open to meet the needs of the public.

The post office, municipal and county offices are closed along with the L.C.B.O. and Brewer's Retail to mark Canada's 114th birthday.

However, most of the merchants in downtown and surrounding area in both Minden and Haliburton have indicated their doors will remain open. In particular, the major grocery stores will be open today, Wednesday.

Minden youngsters enjoyed an afternoon of outdoor music Monday as the local library presented Summer Crackers. The program included stories, songs and an opportunity to play along with the instructors. By the rapt attention of these youngsters, it would appear it was a thoroughly engrossing afternoon.

Township wants developer to split OMB hearing costs

It's been a lengthy process, but Anson, Hindon and Minden council has decided it and a local developer will split costs assessed against the township following an Ontario Municipal Board hearing last March.

A dispute arose when

Minden featured on T.V.

Whitewater enthusiasts who enjoyed the national championships several weeks ago and those who missed the event at the Minden Wildwater Preserve will have an opportunity to have a second look at the competition this weekend.

The CBC television network will be showing filmed excerpts of the competition including exciting footage taken from the bow of one of the kayakers.

The network fastened a motion picture camera to the front of one of the kayakers after all the competition was complete and sent it through the foaming rapids with one of the most experienced paddlers. The result is a unique vantage point on the weekend's activities.

The program on the event will appear Saturday at 3 p.m.

Joseph and Virginia Gentle made an application to council requesting a change to allow a trailer park development on property near Bat Lake.

The matter went before the OMB and the hearing chairman denied approval, calling the application "unnecessary" and assessed the township $500 in costs.

Gentle appeared at council in April to say he did not feel he was responsible for the extra charges. He said the zoning change was rejected because of a fault in the township's by-law, not his development proposal.

At last Wednesday's council meeting, Virginia Gentle appeared at council to continue the discussion.

She said her husband had been told that at the hearing, the by-law would be changed to more specific wording but after the hearing he was told he would have to pay the costs.

She said no mention had been made that they would be responsible for the costs.

"If we had been forewarned of this, we would have expected it," she said.

Councillor Lyle McKnight said, "To save confusion in the future, it should be made clear all costs are to be borne by the applicants."

He also pointed out that the township acts on behalf of the person making application and it was really the individual's case with the township acting as liaison.

Mrs. Gentle said she was not disputing the outcome of the hearing even though she had a copy of the OMB report which said the township had been at fault.

She asked council if anything like this had happened before and deputy-reeve, Doug Pritchard, said it hadn't because in the past, people had automatically paid the costs.

He and McKnight also brought up the fact that the Gentles had not been represented by a lawyer at the hearing.

Mrs. Gentle said they had consulted a lawyer and were told a lawyer would not be necessary but McKnight said "a lawyer should have been retained."

Councillor Ed Pergolas added, "Your lawyer gave you poor advice."

She added she didn't think the case was lost because they didn't have a lawyer.

Mrs. Gentle was also concerned about the judge's refusal to admit some evidence, which was substantial, she said.

Council agreed that in future, it would be spelled out that the individual is responsible for costs. Reeve Lloyd Walker pointed out he hopes a new by-law can be formulated as soon as possible, probably by next year.

Times plays post office

In the event of the disruption of local postal services, Minden and area subscribers (box holders and rural route) will be able to pick up their copy of The Times from our office, Bobcaygeon Road North, just across the bridge. Haliburton and area subscribers will be able to get their newspapers at The Framing Studio, Oak Street in Haliburton. The newspapers will be available at the Minden office from Wednesday noon onward and at The Framing Studio in Haliburton on Thursday morning. All unclaimed newspapers will be held until postal service resumes and then forwarded to subscribers.

Local postal service continues

Postal service across most of Canada has ground to a halt, however the doors are still open at many local post offices.

As of Tuesday, both Minden and Haliburton Village post offices continued to provide local service. Letters mailed at the two offices for local delivery are being handled by the local staff, while those destined for larger centres are being held.

According to Minden Postmaster Don Barry, he has not received any instructions from postal officials regarding the curtailment of services. He said the Minden office will remain open and continue sorting the local mail and providing rural route delivery.

Barry noted that during the last postal strike, the local offices remained in operation until ordered closed by post office supervisors.

Postal employees at the Minden and Haliburton offices are not members of the union which has called the strike, CUPW. They are members of the Canadian Postmasters and Assistants Association. Their contract with the post office was settled in February.

During the past labour disputes some mail moved between post offices in the immediate Haliburton County area. However, according to Barry, there have been no arrangements made for doing so as yet.

The local postmaster noted that even the local postal employees are being inconvenienced by the mail strike. Their pay cheques, issued from a central office, are tied up in the mail.

Lutterworth taxes follow upward trend

Following municipal trends in most parts of the county, ratepayers in Lutterworth Township will be asked to hand over more in taxes this year. The 1981 tax schedule was struck at a May meeting of the municipal council.

The total Lutterworth mill rate will increase just over 15% while the municipal portion of the levy is up 29%.

The township will require $129,162 this year as compared to $99,273 in 1980. These figures represent the amount to be raised while the total expenditure for the township in 1981 has been budgeted at $295,990.

Major increases in the municipal budget fall in general administration, up $10,000; protection services increased $5000; planning and zoning up $2500 reflecting the possibility of two Ontario Municipal Board hearings during the coming year. The township is currently undertaking a major revision of its land-use and zoning by-law. The road expenditure is down this year about $2000. The total road budget is $151,350.

The township recorded a surplus in 1980 of $5873, an amount that has helped cushion the tax increase.

The council has also established two new reserve funds for the coming year. A reserve of $3000 has been allocated for roads to help meet any unforeseen expenses during the final months of the financial year. A reserve has also been established to help the township meet its commitment to the employees when they retire. This money would be used to meet payments for accumulated sick leave and other benefits.

The following is the breakdown of mill rates for 1981 with last year's figures shown in brackets.

Residential

For education purposes 568 mills (513); for county purposes 110 mills (102); for municipal purposes 291 mills (226); total mill rate 969 mills (841).

Commercial

For education purposes 668 (602); for county purposes 130 (119); for municipal purposes 343 (267); total mill rate 1,141 (988).

Truck wrapped around tree

A 1970 Ford pick-up, owned by a Wilberforce man, was found wrapped around a tree several miles from the man's home.

On June 16, Arthur L.

Barras reported his truck missing and police found it two days later on a private road.

Charged with theft were Herman Eugene Hogan, 18, of Harcourt and William Oswald Weedon, 16, of Highland Grove. Hogan was also charged with breach of probation.

Barras's truck incurred $1400 damage. Constable Mike Smith was the investigating officer.

Deliveryman injured

A Barrie man was injured as he stood outside his delivery van near a Minden store.

Tuesday afternoon (June 23), James Andrew Quinlan, 42, of Barrie, stood beside the open door of his delivery truck parked at the rear of stores in Minden when a car backed into the door pinning Quinlan against the truck.

He was taken to Minden Hospital and treated for head cuts and bruises to his back and legs.

The driver of the car, 16-year-old Darryl Michael Crowe of Minden, was charged with impaired driving.

The incident was investigated by Constable Brian Dunham.

Carts and course damaged

Joyrides damaged several golf carts and the greens at PineStone Inn Golf Course. The result was $800 damage.

Complaints were received last Friday and Sunday and Constables Bob Pearson and Weldon Popp investigated the reports.

Rear-end

A rear-end collision occurred on Highway 35, near the south entrance to Minden, on Saturday evening causing a total of $1100 damage.

Jan Kaminski, 20, of Scarborough, was driving a 1978 Volkswagen van when it was hit by a vehicle driven by Arnold J. Walker, 42, of Lutterworth.

Kaminski's passenger Grant Pearson, 20, of Scarborough was treated at Minden Hospital for head lacerations.

Walker was charged with impaired and careless driving.

Constable Barry Connelly was the investigating officer.

Charge laid

A 26-year-old Oshawa man was charged with careless driving on the weekend after his car missed a curve on Highway 35.

John Trachsler was driving south of Minden Sunday evening when he missed a curve and his car left the road and rolled over. Damage was estimated at $1500.

Constable Barry Connelly investigated.

Kayak training centre approved

Not only have the National White Water Championships put Minden on the map, but now the Wild Water Preserve will house a training centre for competitors and enthusiasts alike.

Anson, Hindon and Minden council approved a request from the manager of the Preserve, Roger Parsons, to have the Ministry of Culture and Recreation begin construction of the centre for canoe and kayak training. The centre would be located on the east side of Gull River, off the Bethel Church Road in an area already cleared and designated as Preserve property.

Approval came at the June 24 meeting.

In his letter, Parsons said an agreement had been made with the previous council that the undertaking would be satisfactory but another request for approval was needed when the new council took office last November.

He estimated the cost of the building at $50,000 but added he is hoping Wintario will approve a grant to help with expenses.

Parsons said the building would include a meeting room, kitchen, dining area, equipment and storage rooms.

He said he hopes the facility can be used in the future by local canoe and kayak clubs and that both local people and tourists as well as professional white water competitors will take advantage of it. The site is open to the public now, Parsons said in his letter.

The building would be used during the day and would be available with permission to "responsible groups."

Decision delayed

What seemed like a simple request by Minden Arcade to install four more pinball machines was tossed aside when Anson, Hindon and Minden council postponed their decision so the matter can be "studied further".

A letter from Joe Shapiera, owner of the establishment, was read at the June 24 meeting.

Reeve Lloyd Walker said by-law officer, Dick Schell, had visited the Arcade and said he couldn't see any problems or difficulties with the request.

The councillors agreed there is enough room in the building for four additional machines. The arcade has 10 at the moment. The extra machines would involve an extra licence fee of $20.

However, Walker asked council to delay its decision until further consideration can be given to the matter.

Housing grant received

Anson, Hindon and Minden townships will receive $40,000 under the Ministry of Housing's Home Renewal Program.

Township clerk, Elinor Burke, read a letter from the Ministry at the June 24 meeting of council announcing the additional grant.

Knowing the rules

Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council learned an important lesson recently, all players should be aware of the rules before the game starts.

The township is attempting to recover a portion of the $500 costs assessed against it by a chairman of an Ontario Municipal Board Hearing held in this community earlier this year. The property owners, Joe and Virginia Gentle, have resisted efforts to have them pick up half of the tab.

The matter arose after the Gentles decided to rezone a piece of property adjacent to Bat Lake. After presenting their proposal to the municipal council, the change was approved and the necessary by-law enacted.

Since a number of area residents objected to the plan, an OMB hearing was held to consider the by-law. The contention was really between the objectors and the township, because it was the municipality which had applied for the change. However, in similar instances in the past, the developer realized that his interests lie with the success of the township's case and provided lawyers and necessary material to back up the case.

In this instance no lawyer was retained by the Gentles to represent the township, the objectors had a strong case, the OMB hearing chairman declared the township by-law was lacking in a number of respects and said the hearing was unnecessary. He assigned costs for the hearing to the township.

In general, developers accept responsibility for the cost of the hearing. It is an unspoken understanding which exists between them and the municipality.

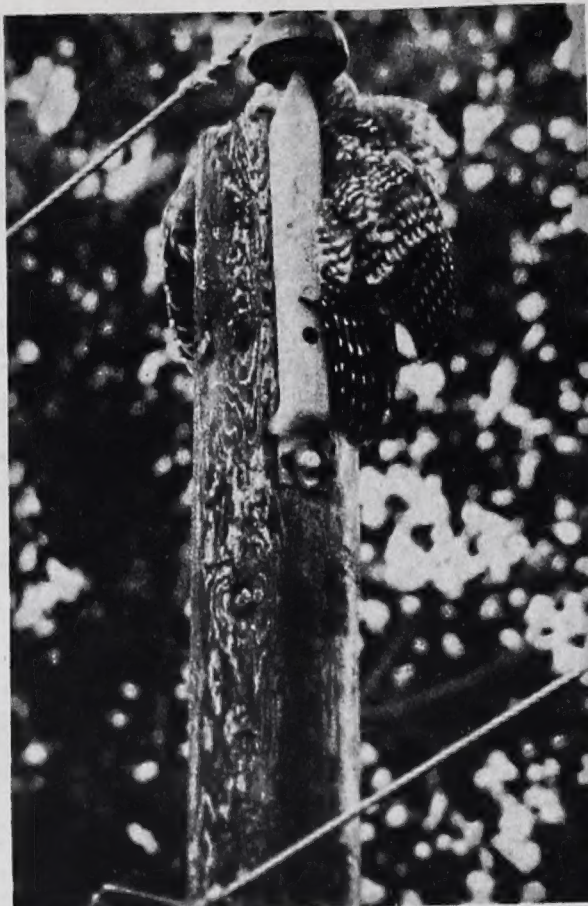

Obviously the township is going to have to make the understanding more than an unspoken commitment, if it wants to avoid similar disputes in the future.

The challenge

It was obvious by the outpouring from all quarters earlier this week that Terry Fox has touched a great many Canadians in a profound way. He has become a hero in the true sense of the word.

His Marathon of Hope became a symbol, not only for the fight against cancer, but as an example for all disabled. Terry's perseverance stands as an example for us all and, in a way, challenges us to examine how we have used our time upon this earth.

Let us, as a nation, not allow ourselves to indulge in mere adulation of Terry Fox. He would certainly spurn such waste of time and effort. But rather, let us learn and grow by his example, so that more individuals with similar determination and fortitude will be encouraged to make their mark on the Canadian scene.

This juvenile hawk owl was seen dangling from the top of a hydro pole on the Deep Bay Road south of Minden last week. MNR Conservation Officer Alec Miller speculated that the young bird left its nest before it had fully developed its flying ability and had become strangled atop the pole, eventually dying of dehydration. A sibling found at the base of the pole apparently suffered the same fate. There were no marks on either bird indicating another reason for their death.

Help for home heating bills

by John Eakins, M.P.P.

The government has announced a $125-million temporary home-heating assistance programme, designed to help an estimated 1.4 million senior-citizens and low-income families pay their higher heating bills over the next three years.

It's estimated that by 1984, the average homeowner will have to pay an extra $440 a year for oil, or about $205 for natural gas. The programme will apply to all senior citizens in the province, and to families earning less than $6,000 in taxable income.

Ontario Treasurer Frank Miller said the programme is intended "to cushion shock, not absorb it on a long-term basis." Opposition spokesmen say it doesn't go nearly far enough for low-income families, some of whom will qualify for no more than $10 assistance in the first year.

Emergency relief

The provincial government will be giving up to $40 million in emergency relief to beef and pork farmers who are suffering from a severe slump in their industry.

Under the programme, farmers who sold at least 10 head of beef cattle in 1980 will be paid $40 per animal slaughtered. The programme appears to have received mixed reviews already from members of the agriculture community, who point out that actual losses can amount to much more than $40 a head.

Treasurer Miller explained to the Legislature, however, that the programme was not meant to cover farmers' losses completely, but rather is "an attempt to help them stay alive." Miller hinted that there might be more relief for beef farmers later in the year.

In the meantime, pork producers benefitting from the federal hog stabilization programme have been told that Queen's Park will add $10 million of its own to that programme this year.

Foam insulation testing

The Health Ministry will undertake a programme to test all homes in the province which were fitted with urea formaldehyde foam insulation. Health Minister Dennis

A warm summer evening might be the ideal setting for love, which in its various stages could range from luke-warm right through to "sizzling." But for a firefly, the glow of love is actually quite cool, for the light of their love-lamps is produced with almost no heat.

Fireflies are actually several species of beetles, which have the fortunate ability to hover like a helicopter. Beginning at dusk, and for several hours thereafter, the fireflies weave their magic dance amongst the bushes and grasses, searching for a suitable mate. The waiting females, which sport a duller lamp, are attracted by the right sequence of flashes and emerge to respond with their own glow when a flashy male appears.

The light itself is produced by special organs on the abdomen of the insects, by a combination of a chemical known as luciferin and an enzyme called luciferase. When oxygen is allowed into the small tubes of this organ, the resulting chemical reaction produces a glowing reddish or greenish light. Surprisingly, the heat produced by this "burning" is less than 1/80,000 of that produced by a candle flame of the same intensity.

Perhaps fireflies are one of the victims of our civilization, since I never seem to see them in the city, even though they are quite common yet in rural parts of Ontario. For every generation of children who will delight in the spectacle of glowing insects in a bottle, let's hope that they continue to thrive as part of our rich insect world.

year after studies showed that the material might be a health hazard. Mr. Timbrell also said that the Government would continue to press the federal government to compensate consumers who purchased the foam, which was originally approved by the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation. He rejected some claims by the New Democratic Party that the province is also responsible for the use of the foam insulation.

Bancroft dumpsite

A 2,958 name petition protesting against the dumping of radium-contaminated soil in Faraday Township has been presented to the Ontario Legislature, following a meeting at which more than 400 area residents voiced disapproval of the decision of the Ontario Government to allow the Atomic Energy Control Board to move the contaminated soil from Scarborough backyards to the Madawaska mine site near Bancroft.

Canada Day

I'd like to take this opportunity to wish all my constituents, and all readers of this newspaper, a very happy and enjoyable July 1st holiday. We're 114 and counting!

Timbrell has announced that the province will tag on its testing with a similar federal government project, to begin during the summer.

Ottawa banned the use of urea formaldehyde earlier this

Kids & kite but no wind for workshop

Everything was up in the air last Saturday at the Lakeview School in Haliburton as the Guild of Fine Arts in co-operation with Gary Woodstock and Elizabeth Cunningham of Toronto presented a kite making and flying workshop.

The youngsters made a number of kites and were introduced to more intricate designs created by the two instructors. Both are members of the Toronto Kiteflyers, a group of enthusiasts who meet weekly on the Lake Ontario shoreline to fly their creations and exchange construction tips. They have also attended kite fly-ins in a number of locations in North America.

Wind conditions Saturday were all but nil, but, as the workshop participant at the left demonstrates, kid power can often replace wind power to get a well constructed kite airborne.

by Irene Stewart

Every year, as June melts into July, my thoughts jet back to the scenes of my childhood. Then as now, most children waited impatiently for school to be let out. Even the smartest pupils enjoyed the freedom from the daily grind.

A few children from our town went to their cottages at Jackson's Point, Island Grove or Musselman's Lake. The rest of us could not afford to go away to camp or cottage but we didn't miss what we had never had. Such was the exuberance of youth that we could always find something interesting to do.

Rainy days

On rainy summer days in Uxbridge my brother and I usually had to beg mother to let us go wading in the stream which rippled past a little island and made a sudden sally to turn the wheel of the old grist mill near our home. Mother feared that, since we couldn't swim, we might stumble and drown. She needn't have worried because we usually travelled in a gang. There was always somebody near to haul us out if we fell. The water was only two feet deep where we played but it was a lovely sparkling stretch of clear water where we could snare suckers and minnows or trap leeches or polywogs.

Meadow retreat

A summer treat which gave us infinite pleasure was a day's outing in a sunny green meadow across the railway tracks about a mile from home. We packed a lunch of bologna sandwiches made from mother's delicious homemade bread and homemade mixed pickles. For a beverage we took a quart jar of homemade raspberry vinegar which sparkled through the glass like rubies. Even though we had no ice to keep it cool, it was the tastiest thirst-quencher we ever drank.

We spent the morning wandering over the gentle slopes gathering wild strawberries, eating some of the big, luscious ones along the way. Now and then we stopped to admire red admiral butterflies sipping nectar from anemones and blowing tunes on long hollow dandelion stems or jumping out of the way of slippery green frogs hopping in and out of the lush meadow grasses.

We ate our lunch under the shade of a butternut tree, sipping our raspberry vinegar slowly to savour its tingling taste.

We usually had our berry containers filled by four o'clock so we stopped on our way home to wash the stains off our hands in a sparkling brook traversing the meadow and picked a bouquet of golden cowslips for mother. After supper we hulled the berries and flopped into bed early. Believe me, Marco Polo couldn't have felt any more pleased than we were over our expedition by land and water. Oh, the joy of carefree youth!

Busy days

Those hazy days of summer were filled with baseball, fishing and trips to the library.

Our library, formerly the Mechanics' Institute, was a gift from Joseph Gould, the founder of Uxbridge. It was the finest library in Ontario county.

The children in our neighbourhood were mostly boys who gathered daily except Sundays and rainy days in a large common between Heard's property and the old railway turntable, later burned out. The boys let me play hard ball with them partly because I owned a good ball, a birthday gift from my brother, Harold, who played on a Toronto team for some time.

The common was an ideal spot for baseball, wide open and level also in open sight for our parents to see what was going on.

At the risk of bragging I must say that I got quite proficient at the game, especially at batting. In later years this stood me in good stead.

When I was teaching Grade 8 in the Robert Land school across the street from the Armour Packing Company in Hamilton I had to teach physical education to Grade 8 boys. We usually ended up with a game of baseball. The class looked surprised to see me in the lineup. They tried to hide their snickers as I stepped up to bat the first time. Under my breath I muttered, "Don't you worry. I'll show you how to hit a ball."

Sure enough, I connected with a perfect pitch and swatted that ball away across the street over the Armour Packing Company's highboard fence for a safe home run. It was cheesecake with that class from then on.

Comet cometh

Back in my hometown we spent the long bright summer evenings playing run-sheep-run, kick the stick, apple-o and other childhood games which kept us healthy and the town alive with shouting and laughter.

On a lovely summer evening in 1910 a group of us youngsters gathered in a wide lane beside our place to play nuts-in-May. Holding hands, we moved around in a circle singing loudly. Suddenly a neighbour lady came running over, calling as she ran, "Mrs. Ellerby, come quickly. There's a big bright star with a fiery tail moving across the sky."

We all stopped and stared. Mother came out on the double to take a look. Then she said, "It's Halley's comet. It's supposed to be visible tonight according to the paper."

The other lady shrieked, "If it hits the earth it will be the end of the world."

All the kids were terrified. Some cried and some started to run home. Then the frightened neighbour suggested that we all join hands and pray. We all did.

We knelt down on the grassy lane while the poor lady tried to lead us in the Lord's prayer but some of us couldn't remember all of it so one child recited Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star. Another child recited Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep. Still another started in with One, two, buckle my shoe, three four shut the door.....but couldn't think what came next.

Finally mother got us quieted down and sent everyone home. That was in 1910 when the earth was so full of wonderful things that it seemed too bad to have it come to such a sudden end.

Sunday school picnics

There was no doubt about what event gave us the most fun in the early summer. It was the annual Sunday school picnic, of course.

I shudder to relate how I felt about my first attendance at St. Paul's Anglican Sunday School picnic held in Elgin Park. It was on a hot summer day in July when gusts of dust from the race track filled the humid air so that at times it was difficult to see clearly.

For weeks the children all looked forward to that annual treat. We donned our second best clothes and dashed down to the park where tables were being laid with clean white linen cloths, not paper nor oilcloth. Then we watched the ladies in their ankle length starched dresses setting forth plates, cutlery, lemon-meringue pies, luscious looking cakes sprinkled generously with walnut meats and mountains of thick white bread spread with homemade sweet butter and canned salmon mixed with salt and vinegar.

Never were there any other kinds of sandwiches at those picnics. Eggs would have been a change and cheaper, so would headcheese or jelly but no, it was always straight salmon with vinegar. So, too, were these salmon snacks the only kind of sandwiches at square dances, church and social clubs! As for the pies, a friend of mine told me that she disliked lemon pies at picnics and church socials because they tasted like gooey poultices.

Our rector had previously bought the prizes for the sporting events and put them in a large wicker basket which he set beside the finish line. Several men from the congregation helped with the starting of the races. They usually started with the infant class girls' race. I was five years old and eager to try my legs.

We were shown where to line up and when to be ready to start as well as where to stop. That was forty feet along the dusty track where the rector announced the winner.

Seven girls lined up with me and got set. The starter said, "One, two, three, go!" Away we went. One girl tripped and fell. She just sat there and cried. Another girl tripped and lost a shoe but continued running and came in second but didn't watch who she pushed. Alas, I was the one who actually came in first but she shoved me aside with such a force that I stumbled and fell right into the middle of that large basket of prizes, most of which were breakable.

The minister's choice of cups, saucers, flower vases and china pin trays was poor indeed. Would you believe it? Nobody asked if I was hurt or cut anywhere. To add insult to injury, I was disqualified for breaking the prizes. That was the greatest ignominy of all.

I quickly ran off through the park and sat on a bench far removed from the picnic and cried my eyes out. I was so upset that I even forgot God and the reason for the picnic until mother came to take me to supper.

I refused to go near the park every year they had a Sunday School picnic until I was thirteen. That was when the picnic was held at Musselman's Lake ten miles away.

The first time I saw Musselman's Lake was from a hayrack slowly moving down the last hill before stopping at the gate of the picnic grounds. There were many picnickers from various places like Stouffville, Markham, Goodwood, Zephyr, Mount Albert and Unionville.

The Clayton Baker pavilion stood beckoning and the shouts of laughter made pleasant music to my ears. I entered no contests but played ball with the boys.

Coming here for our annual Sunday School picnic for several years I gradually lost my feelings of guilt and embarrassment caused by that fall into the basket of prizes. It was here that I met Sandy Stewart who came with a group from Stouffville. Lucky me!

Nowadays there seems to be a falling off of those memorable Sunday School picnics. Present day ones don't arouse the same enthusiasm in modern youth. Too many other attractions clutter up the scenery. Alas, things are always changing, but not always for the better.

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

With the first week of the summer season now behind us the question keeps coming up - how are we doing? What kind of a summer is it going to be?

This looks like it's going to be a very busy summer throughout the county. Many accommodation operators report bookings are quite solid throughout the balance of the summer although things are starting out a little slowly. More and more private cottages are being rented for a portion of the summer as well which will result in more people being in the county throughout the week this year.

The cost of energy has drastically affected weekend traffic to the Highlands in the shoulder seasons and this is a problem that will have to be addressed in the immediate future. The answer may even be to look at alternate methods of transportation for visitors and methods of merchandising it.

The eastern part of our county that relates to Bancroft as a centre is suffering to some degree by the adverse publicity connected with the Scarborough radioactive waste issue. It would seem that Bancroft may have won the war and lost the battle when they succeeded in stopping the dumping of this waste in their area. The publicity the argument generated resulted in a host of cancellations at many of the resorts without any good reason.

New and different

The most exciting news will surround the opening of the Sky Slider in Haliburton. Many locals have been insisting it would never open on time, but things are still on schedule and providing all the required inspections are done on target, the ride will operate by the time you are reading this. Thirty-five employees are presently being trained to look after the many visitors expected at this great attraction and their advertising is readily seen on T.V. and billboards and heard on the radio. Resorts will shortly be receiving posters, brochures and books of tickets which they can make available to their guests.

You may also have seen the tour train moving about Haliburton Village as it gets dressed up with a new paint job and a few alterations.

The new tour boat was launched last week and is awaiting government inspection this week. It should be operating by this weekend, carrying her new name - "Ms. Haliburton". She will be skippered by Rick Vaughan, who is a teacher at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Thanks to the generosity of Rex Boice and Wintario all this activity will be complemented by a beautiful park which is nearing completion at absolutely no cost to the tax-payers of the municipality. Rex and his son Lon Duncombe have also transformed what was part of an old garage behind the Red and White in Haliburton into a mini-plaza of sorts. Lon has acquired a Radio-Shack franchise and a Honda motor bike sales and service dealership and will operate out of two units of the building as Haliburton Sound and Sports. Adjacent to those, John Wood has set up shop as John Wood Electronics and he is equipped to service your radios and T.V.'s as well as provide antenna installations. Anything in Lon's store that he can't service will be taken to Barrie for factory service and returned promptly.

We also welcome in Haliburton as a new Chamber member, Calico Crafts operated by Wanda Byers. Wanda specializes in both locally made handicrafts and the necessary ingredients to produce your own craft treasures. In addition she is the agent for Lindsay Dry Cleaners and Travelways Bus Lines.

At Fort Irwin at Haliburton Lake, John and Eilene Bruce has been busy this year erecting a new building, renovating an old one and are now operating a busy little snack bar along with their Fort Irwin Marina.

At (Metro) Carnarvon on Highway 35 and 530, John Hogg has now opened Metro Carnarvon Golf Driving Range, another first in the county and we suspect a welcome addition for the many golfers who frequent our five golf courses.

Minden has changed dramatically this year with initially the move by Highlands Plumbing into their new log showroom. Minden Furniture then moved into the quarters vacated by them which prompted Paul Heffer to completely renovate their building to provide the sparkling new facilities occupied by both himself with the Minden IDA Drug Store and the Highlands Jewellery and China Shoppe.

The former Minden Red and White store on main street has also been divided and Cub Coneybeare has opened his Butcher Shop in one portion. Now with a number of vacant stores being created after all these changes we expect to shortly be announcing other new business endeavours in Minden.

Bring in your brochures

When we visited the Caboose in Haliburton last week we found they were lacking brochures from many of the tourist establishments in the area. Our Minden office is also missing some and like-wise the log school information centre at Cardiff. The girls have been busy on the phone calling operators to let them know of this situation and we would like once again to remind you - we are all here to help you promote your business, but it is up to you to provide the ammunition. Please bring in your brochures and fliers to the centres mentioned if you have not already done so.

Coming events

the 19th Annual Guild of Fine Arts Exhibition and Sale gets underway this week with the official opening on Friday evening at the Haliburton Senior Elementary School. The evening will feature, among other things, entertainment by the popular Guild Choir. The exhibits will be open for the next nine days. The displays provide an opportunity for the public to view, and if they wish, to purchase beautiful craft products from both local artisans and those of national or international acclaim. Many of the exhibitors are professionals who come each year to teach at the summer courses of the Haliburton School of Fine Arts.

Nancy Robichaud shares her talent

by Sue Scott

Nancy Robichaud is a special woman.

As a teacher she communicates her knowledge of the English language to her students and as a singer she imparts her love for the language of music to an audience.

A native of Saint John, New Brunswick, she came to Haliburton County to replace one of the English teachers at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. But, little did her students and probably some of the staff know that she was also an accomplished and experienced singer.

"I think I've always sung," she recalls. "I'd get the family together to put on a play or something of that sort since I can remember. I must have been around four or five years old at the time."

She says she continued singing in school, performing in musicals, then she started studying seriously.

Nancy lived in Saint John until she was 10, she then moved to Toronto where she got her English degree at the University of Toronto.

"I taught for five years and then I thought I'd really like to sing," she said.

She studied with the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto and the Faculty of Music at U of T and she spent one year in Paris, France.

"I worked with a specialist in the French art song and I was fortunate enough to be able to watch him teach his classes, take notes and tape recordings."

She says when she came

back, friends told her she was all wrapped up in technique and classical music.

"I began working with the vocal coach for the Charlotte-town Festival," she explains. "I spent a year with her to help me sound more natural and to have more fun. I'm getting back to that more now."

Nancy has quite a varied musical background starting with the songs her mother sang, to her art song training in Paris.

"My mother always sang around the house doing housework, so I have quite a repertoire of wartime favourites I like to do," she says. Her mother seems to be the spark that spurred Nancy on.

"My family consists mainly of dry dock workers and long shoremen," she says. "I was lucky to have a mother that thought if I was interested in something she should encourage it."

Her parents encouraged her to start piano lessons, which she did when she was six or seven.

"Again I was lucky because through the classical music in piano I went on to singing, so I like to feel I stumbled on my singing rather than anything my family did," she said.

Nancy feels her two careers complement each other perfectly because in both she has contact with people. "It's the communication and the literature. That is why I like music the way I do," she explains. "It comes through other people, then through me, I do that with teaching. I find something I think is worthwhile and I present it so other people can share it."

She says she would not try writing her own music but prefers to find good material and work with it.

"I consider myself a recitalist," she says. "I do mostly art songs, German, Leider and French art songs but of course, you can't do that all the time."

She added, "I prefer taking what's there and making it accessible to the audience rather than making a statement myself."

Since coming to the county, Nancy has become active in the artistic community. She's sung at a couple of local churches, joined the Haliburton Guild Choir and she sang at the recent high school graduation ceremonies.

Most recently she performed at two cabaret style evenings at local restaurants. The audiences were extremely pleased with the range of her musical knowledge and the feeling she brought to the performance.

She says she was asked to sit on the Guild's concert committee and if approval comes from the Board of Education, she'll be organizing a Broadway musical at the high school next year.

Also next year, she'll be spearheading a concert series at the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton.

It will be an off-shoot of the Guild's concert series and Nancy says she hopes Saturday afternoons could see the spotlight on new local musicians.

Nancy Robichaud has had a pretty busy several months in the county she hopes to call home. She has a new house and a houseful of new friends.

"It's surprising the number of people I've met not only through the school but through the music," she says.

Toronto tops — crowd small

by David Shapiera

"We're here to entertain people," lead singer Holly Woods said before last Saturday night's concert by the group Toronto. Having said that, she went and backed these words by delivering a hard driving, powerful performance that provided plenty of entertainment for the disappointingly sparse crowd.

The band showed a fluid, yet tight knit style that demonstrated most conclusively the talents of this four-man, two-woman group. Buoyed by Miss Wood's dynamic voice, the group mainly presented songs off their newly released album.

The increasing technical aspect of their work, due in part to producer Terry Brown, was very evident. The crowd, however, seemed to be more receptive to songs from the band's first album, especially to the hits "Looking for Trouble" and "Even the Score".

The only flaw in the performance was its length which seemed to drag on too long. The pitiful acoustics of the Minden Arena didn't help, often blurring the loud sound of the group.

The opening act, "The Heat" displayed the flip side of a fine act like Toronto's, giving a repetitious unimaginative performance that seemed to be trying to find a direction which never came. Not even an "island" beauty, complete with skimpy costume, could save this act.

Hustlers tied for top spot

The Rockcliffe Hustlers raised their record to 7-2 last Wednesday night as they downed the visiting Omamee squad. However, it could have been a costly win for the locals as they lost the services of speedster Rick Boucher for at least six weeks with a broken ankle.

Rick, who had already scored two of the local's runs by stealing 4 bases, tripped as he beat out an infield hit, and was taken to hospital where the extent of his injury was later determined.

The Hustlers are currently tied with Lindsay York Tavern who have an 8 and 4 record, but the locals have two games in hand. Winning pitcher was Wade Stamp.

Defeat Bobcaygeon

In a rain-shortened game, the Hustlers squeezed by the Bobcaygeon Bobcats in a game that was called after 5 innings, because of rain.

Minden drew first blood in the first inning on a run by Greg Newell but Bobcaygeon came back with 3 unearned runs in the second inning on 4 errors by the Hustlers.

The local squad then tightened up their defences until the fourth inning when they scored 2 runs to tie the score. In the fifth inning the Hustlers scored the winning run as Dave Dollo singled - stole second and scored on a solid double by Ron Yake.

Winning pitcher was Jack Snell.

Standings as of June 29:
Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers - 8 wins - 2 losses.

Lindsay York Tavern - 8 wins - 4 losses.

Unlicenced drivers pose problem

A common complaint received at Minden OPP detachment concerns unlicenced motorcycles travelling on cottage roads throughout the area.

These complaints usually involve youthful riders of trail bikes and mini-bikes. As well as causing concern because of their loud noise and erratic driving, the bikes are a hazard to life and limb as witnessed by the several personal injury accidents in the area over the past few years.

One of the major deterrents to driving an unlicenced motorcycle on public roadways should be the threat of a "no insurance" charge which, upon conviction carries a minimum $500 fine.

From the Chamber

On Saturday July 4th, in the village of Wilberforce, there is a Fiddle and Step dance contest along with an old tyme dance at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Hall. This is centennial year for the municipality over there and they are pulling all the stops for their various events to make each one the best ever.

This and that

When the Weekend Magazine ran a contest to pick the "Best 100" for their July 1st issue we submitted a number of suggestions from the Highlands. One of them made it through to the final list and we are pleased to congratulate Robinson's Store in Dorset for being selected the "Best small town store" in all of Canada.

At the Chamber Roast last spring Don Smedmore of E.J. Motel commented on the poor condition of the Chamber office and its grounds. The problem he was told is the lack of funds in the budget so he agreed to donate the services of his grounds keeper to cut our grass and make the place look more presentable. He did, it does, and we thank him sincerely for this kind assistance.

Trailer Snarls! If you're holding up traffic, signal, pull over, and let other motorists pass.

A recent incident involving 12-year-olds on mini-bikes occurred on a road which was being maintained by the cottagers. Because of this, the lads' parents assumed the road to be private.

However, as the road traversed lands owned by the municipality, it fell under the definition of a public road and was therefore subject to all the rules and regulations of the Highway Traffic Act. Only roads across lands owned by the residents themselves are deemed to be private roads.

Senior Citizens Week began on Monday. There was a special bingo held in the auditorium in the afternoon. There was a good turnout of bingo lovers to try their luck at winning Wintario tickets. Isabella Avery, Madeline Trepanier, Lola Prentice, Viola Deumo, Amelia Good, Millie Wood, Della Curry, Bob Krick, Lily Miller, Ted Carr, Ethel MacDonald, Esther Rowbottom and Ada Shorter were all lucky winners of tickets.

When the ticket numbers were checked on Friday morning it was discovered that Ted Carr, Esther Rowbottom and Millie Wood were winners of a free book of tickets. Everyone is hanging on to their tickets for a chance on the bonus draw on July 9.

In the evening there were two very interesting movies shown. Trot Town U.S.A. was all about harness racing in Trot Town, New York. We learned that the racing began in this town in the early 1800's. Today the finest trotters go there to race.

Village in the Dust was filmed 15 miles east of Toronto. We were shown how archeologists are discovering many objects of interest such as pottery and skull bones of Indians and animals. From the specimens discovered, experts can tell how many years ago they existed and how they died. This area being Iroquois Indian territory is of great interest to Ontario residents.

Tuesday morning Jimmy Cooper of West Guilford Gospel Church held service in the Chapel. Everyone enjoyed his message. It was nice to have Norma Barron with us to accompany us on the organ for the singing of hymns.

Tuesday evening the annual Over 70's Dinner was held in our auditorium. This year had the biggest turnout ever. A special thank-you to the kitchen staff for preparing the delicious roast beef dinner and to the volunteers who served it, also thanks to the ladies of Lochlin U.C.W. who set the tables.

We were entertained by Rev. Denny and his wife. Rev. Denny sang Scarlet Ribbons, I Believe and How Great Thou Art. He sang these and other numbers beautifully and told some very humorous stories. Everyone who attended the dinner enjoyed the entertainment and the meal and I'm sure are looking forward to next year's Over 70's Dinner.

Our thanks to all staff at Hyland Crest who worked so hard to prepare for this event and who made it the huge success it was.

Wednesday morning the residents went on a picnic to the Rotary Beach park in Minden. Even though we had a few showers of rain everyone enjoyed their lunch. We then went to the Museum in Haliburton and enjoyed a tour through the building. Everyone was served coffee, tea and cookies by the museum staff. We would like to thank them for the goodies and for opening the museum especially for us.

Later in the evening, a newly formed group called the Lochlin Sournotes entertained for us.

Thursday afternoon the Hyland Crest Auxiliary brought a delicious lunch for the tea party. This was a special birthday celebration. Emma Stutt, Lola Prentice, Madeline Trepanier, Ethel Boice and Ada Lewis who celebrated their birthdays in June were special guests of honour. The group presented them with a lovely decorated birthday cake and we all joined together to sing happy birthday to these special people. The auxiliary served a variety of sandwiches and the ice-cream cones for desert. Our thanks to the ladies for a wonderful afternoon.

Friday, several of our residents went to Extendicare in Haliburton for a barbeque. They enjoyed delicious hamburgers and ice cream for lunch and were entertained by Ray Jenkins on the piano after the meal. Jack Pollard joined in playing his mouth organ and I must say they played some mighty fine music. We also enjoyed a sing song led by Sheila Easton. Our thanks to the staff and residents of Extendicare for a very nice day and for making us feel so welcome in their home.

The nation was saddened by the death of Terry Fox, but what an effort! His family should truly be comforted by the thought of what he accomplished in his 22 years and eleven months.

Sincere sympathy goes to the family and friends of the late Mrs. Ed (Fanny) Kirkwood who passed away since last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Courtney are now residents of Thompson House in Don Mills; we hope they will be happy there.

Sure, quite a lot is wrong, yet it is really no excuse for grumbling and for looking glum. Declaring life's no use. Now and again, just try a smile— You might find life much more worthwhile!

Weekend guests with their mother, Mrs. Ern Hewitt, included the Fred Hewitts of Toronto and Neil Hewitt of Carleton Place.

New arrival is a first grandchild for Leone and Harry Skead and another for Blanche and Harvey McIntosh; Jason Robert, son of Juanita and Bob McIntosh.

Miss Jill Stamp is away this week visiting with the Blake Hughes at Mississauga.

Weekend guests with Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Cox were Mr. and Mrs. Allan Cox and boys of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Upton of Downsview are holidaying this week at their home in our village.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cowan of Phelpsston and Mr. and Mrs. Alec Carpenter of Wyevalle visited on the weekend with friends and relatives.

Don't forget these people at Hyland Crest having birthdays in July - Lillian Miller, July 2, Caroline Jones, July 12, Amelia Good, July 19, Wilbert Sisson, July 14, William Avery, July 15 and James Voicey, July 26. They might enjoy a visit, a card, or a phone call from you.

We truly are blessed by the beauty of our village with its green hills and winding river. If you stop on the bridge for a minute, you might see what visitors see, the flower beds on the banks are really looking lovely as are the hanging baskets, and the flower bed by the Hardware.

Master Robbie Titus is home again after surgery at St. Joseph's Hospital Peterborough, and we hear that Carol Ann was really glad to see him when she came home from Mississauga.

Enjoy yourself on holiday. Wherever you may be, In busy streets or countryside, On hills, or by the sea. But spare a thought and prayer today For all those who at home must stay.

Anon

We hear that May Wright and some of the Ted Johnston family are back at the Wright home for the summer.

Several coming events - Horticultural Meeting at Municipal Hall (upstairs) on July 7th at 7:30. Strawberry Tea from 2-4 at Hyland Crest Home with a Bake Sale and White elephant table July 8.

If you have special summer news, please call us in the morning, from 9-10 is a good time. We're in the book.

Lovely weekend with many visitors coming to our area, take care whether driving or boating, remember for our visitors we just have two lane highways, not the 401. Cheerio until next time.

Edith Russell marks her 80th

It was June 20th, a beautiful sunny day just right for out-door entertaining, and it was the eightieth birthday of Edith Russell, long time resident of Hall's Lake.

Edith (Welch) Russell was born at Hall's Lake and has lived all of her life in the general area, with the exception of 11 or 12 years in Toronto where her husband, Eldon Russell, worked for the T.T.C. Her father was James Welch. He owned and operated one of the earliest water powered sawmills. It was located close to where Edith's home is now. She was one of a family of eight. Brother Art owned and operated the Esso service station next to Club 35.

Edith learned at an early age to work hard and assume responsibility. That characteristic has never left her, and she is still a busy and vigorous woman. She bowls every winter, is a very active member of the Ladies Guild of St. Stephen's Church, makes quilts for their annual bazaar, bakes bread, rolls, mouth watering Chelsea buns, and more. She joins in all the activities of Club 35 of which she is a founding member, and by the way, you should see her step around in a square dance.

To celebrate their mother's birthday, Edith's two daughters Doris Jennings and Dolores Gardner with daughter Nancy, prepared an "open house" type of reception commencing at 2 p.m. Relatives and friends came from near and far to greet her and wish her the traditional "many happy returns". Everyone gathered on the lawn where chairs were provided. Guests enjoyed chatting with one another, and many reminisced about happenings in long remembered days. Seventy people signed the guest book, and she received fifty-seven cards.

In a bright blue dining shelter three barbecues were set up and large roasts of beef were turning on the spits. Later in the day when the beef was ready tables were set up and all sorts of goodies appeared to go with the beef - potato salad from Jones' store, home made rolls, all sorts of relishes, celery, tomatoes, and more. Last of all came a lovely birthday cake and coffee. Art Hunt, popular secretary of Club 35, proposed a toast and led the singing of "Happy Birthday".

Not everyone stayed for the evening, but those who did were entertained by Edith's four grandsons with their musical instruments, who played many well known tunes for a sing-song.

A happy ending to a happy day.

Holly Britton Goldie

Holly's mother and father were pioneers to the Minden area.

They ran a hotel in Minden known as "The Goldie House" offering room and board.

On March 18, 1901 they were blessed with the arrival of their first child which they named Holly Britton Goldie, and subsequently had two additional daughters, Jessie and Evelyn.

Holly grew up in the village of Minden and very capably handled a variety of jobs, one of which comes to mind was the delivering of mail throughout the area at age 13 in a model "T" Ford.

In 1927 Holly took a wife, Mabel Coulter. They had two children, both boys, and they were named John and Douglas.

Holly's wife, Mabel, passed away at an early age of 34. A further hurt came to Holly some years later with the passing of his second son, Douglas, who also died at age 34.

Holly spent most of his life in the Minden area with some 50 to 55 years at his parent's cottage located on Pleasant Point Road on 12 Mile Lake. The cottage is still there and continues in the "Goldie" name by his son John, the third generation.

In more recent years Holly lived in Toronto, but his roots were always in Minden.

Some of you may recall seeing Holly on many occasions sitting on a bench on the main street of Minden jawing with friends and as he used to say, "Some 40 or 50 odd cousins."

It was not uncommon to see him at the break of dawn trolling for trout on 12 Mile Lake in the hopes of getting "that big one".

Holly was a great little fella with one of those winning faces, so perfectly round with plump dimpling rosy cheeks and an unforgettable twinkle, always a smiling twinkle in his eyes. Immaculately clean both in body and in mind.

The total sum of his life was the love for people and more particularly his love for children.

He will be sadly missed by all and long remembered by his son John, daughter-in-law Sharon and a very dear and close friend Isabel Walker.

Holly Britton Goldie has made his last trip and has returned home to rest in his place of birth.

God bless and keep him.

Lines from Lutterworth

by Jean Lacey

Hi! Well it was our turn for the meeting of the clan this past weekend. The weather helped to make it so enjoyable. We had our two sons and three daughters visiting with us. It's not often they manage to make it up all at once. There were Jeanne and Mike Cruickshank and their son Jim and youngest daughter Sheri. Also Bill and Wendy Lacey with daughter Dawn; Joanne and Jim Oatman with son Joshua and daughter Crystal; Cliff Lacey and his friend Steven Wild. Well so much for our family now to get to the real news.

The Lutterworth Library bake sale went off fairly well, for which we are grateful. Thanks to all the people that helped out by donating baked goods and articles to sell. With special thanks to Major and Mrs. Lewis and Jeanne Bowron.

Lee and Frank Oster spent a week at their cottage.

Tom and Viv Miles were up to their cottage for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ryall from Leamington, visited with relatives and friends in the Minden area.

Mrs. Seuret spent last week in the Oakville area.

Mrs. Norma Melinchuk spent the weekend with her mother Mrs. Porter.

Glad to hear that Mr. Stott is home from hospital after a bout with a virus.

Mr. and Mrs. Garry Wilson and children were up for the weekend. They are starting a three week trip to the east coast next week.

Don't forget the Minden and District Horticulture Society meets Tuesday, July 7 at 7:30 p.m. Meet you there?

The only weapon that becomes sharper with constant use is the tongue.

Hint of the Week

When ironing, stand on a cushion in stocking feet. It is far less tiring. If you haven't a steam iron, spray dry ironing with warm water from a push-button window-cleaner container.

Kids Korner

Well kids, how was your first week of the summer holidays? Are you doing a lot of different things and visiting different places?

Sunset

by Aileen Fisher
A little pink feather of sunset sat right on top of a hill's green hat.

What's long and yellow and travels great distances?

An intercontinental banana missile

What is orange and half a mile high?

The Empire State Carrot

What did the elephant say when he got to the North Pole?

Bye for now. Take it easy. God bless till next time.

IN MEMORIAM

TOYE - In loving memory of my dear husband Tim who was taken from us July 1st, 1979.

A million times I've needed you
A million times I've cried
If love could have saved you Tim
You never would have died.
Things I feel most deeply
Are the hardest things to say
My dearest Tim I love you
In a very special way.
If I could have a lifetime wish
One dream that could come true
I'd pray to God with all my heart
For yesterday and you.

Forever loved and remembered, sadly missed by wife Debbie.

Every step of the way

One of the biggest steps your child will ever take is the first one. But others are coming up: College, starting out in business, marriage.

And as a parent, one of the smartest steps you can take is guaranteeing your child money when it's needed, even if you die.

Let me show you how Mutual Life can help you help your child every step of the way.
